

Kelva

Mail-inbox-connected receipt, warranty and subscription manager. Shipped in 5 languages.

What it is

Kelva is an iOS + Android app that digitally manages receipts, warranties and subscriptions. The user connects multiple mail addresses (read-only), incoming mail lands directly in Kelva, gets parsed by AI or a quick manual scan, the user classifies it (invoice, warranty, subscription, contract) and sets reminders. The overview holds all receipts, warranties and subs in one place, plus an optional vault for important documents. With household sharing, a family opens a shared inbox - everyone sees what is going on, priorities split, nothing falls through the cracks. Shipped in DE / EN / ES / FR / IT.

Who it is for

Adults 25-55 worldwide who manage device inventory, warranties and recurring subscriptions for themselves or their household. Audience skews consumer-conscious, mildly DIY, family- or partner-led households. Creators who sit well: savings-tip and personal-finance creators, family-organisation IGers, lifehack TikTokers, small tech reviewers, consumer-law explainers (DE: lawyer TikTokers around §437 / §438 BGB; EN / ES / FR / IT: general consumer-protection angle).

Key features

- Mail-inbox parsing: connect multiple mail addresses read-only, AI auto-classifies invoices, warranties, subscriptions, contracts; or quick manual scan.
- Receipt + warranty + subscription overview: one dashboard for everything paper-y, filterable by category, device or vendor.
- Push reminders: 30 / 7 / 1 day before warranty expires or subscription auto-renews.
- §437 / §438 BGB warranty auto-calculation (DE-law bonus): app computes the consumer-warranty deadline per device for German purchases; users outside DE see standard manufacturer-warranty lookup.
- Household sharing: shared family inbox, everyone sees the same overview, priorities split per member.
- Document vault + Snap-to-Done: store warranty PDFs / manuals / contracts; tap once to mark a receipt as handled.

Why this works as an affiliate pitch

People lose money to expired warranties and forgotten subscriptions across every market - it's not a DACH problem. The mail-inbox parsing demo is visually strong in any language, and household sharing gives family-content creators a unique angle. The §437 / §438 BGB auto-calculation is a real DE-specific bonus that lawyer-TikToker types can demo concretely, but the core product (single place for everything paper-y) sells in EN / ES / FR / IT too. 29.99 USD annual converts at above-average rates because the alternative (one missed warranty claim = 200-500 EUR lost) is concrete.
