

Trubel

QR-code album that scans guests' camera rolls automatically after the event.

What it is

Trubel is an iOS + Android photo-album app with QR-code magic. You host a hangout (birthday, bachelorette, housewarming, flatshare party), generate a QR card, every guest scans it and just takes photos normally with their phone camera. After the event the app scans your guests' camera roll automatically within the correct time window (optional GPS radius) and collects every photo into a single shared album. Optional: any host or guest can buy a 4K download of the full album as a one-time consumable.

Who it is for

Gen-Z friend-group leaders, party hosts, bachelorette and birthday planners, festival groups, study-abroad cohorts. Audience skews 18-28, heavily TikTok-leaning, iPhone-dominant (~80%). Creators who sit well: birthday-recap creators, bachelorette planners, college lifestyle, flatshare content, festival vloggers, camera-roll-aesthetic accounts.

Key features

- QR-card hosting: every event gets a QR card design, guests scan once on arrival, no app account needed to contribute.

- Shared album per event: every member sees every photo as it lands, comment + react inline.

- 4K full-album download (one-time): one tap, 1.99 USD, the full event in print resolution.
- Multi-event hosting: birthdays, trips, parties - switch albums without re-onboarding guests each time.

Why this works as an affiliate pitch

Birthday and bachelorette content has explosive Gen-Z reach. The pain ("send me your pics" group chats that die in 4 days) is universal and concrete. Trubel's automatic camera-roll scan is genuinely a category-of-one - competitors like POV.contact / FridaySnap / Lapse are all web-app-centric, Trubel is native. Two revenue rails (sub + consumable) both pay the affiliate, so high-emotion-moment audiences (festivals, weddings) monetise twice.
